Avivatech™

XpressControl™

Get the visibility and insights you need to take command of retail cash operations

Take charge of retail cash operations

For most retailers, cash management is a time-consuming, costly process that takes managers away from more strategic priorities. Even with a cash automation solution, they often lack the trending data they need to control cash operations across the enterprise.

Avivatech fills the void with the XpressControl™ application, a comprehensive command center that offers full visibility into, and control of, cash operations across all store locations. This web-based application extends the functionality of the XpressCashTM cash automation solution by providing a comprehensive, real-time view of how cash is flowing throughout your retail enterprise.

Leverage valuable intelligence across your cash operations

The XpressControl solution keeps you informed of cash utilization, transaction volumes and device performance, at any time and from anywhere. Trending data helps you target areas of improvement. With the insights from the XpressControl solution, you'll be able to:
- Reduce cash shrinkage: Drill down into transaction data for the information you need to enforce accountability and deter internal theft

- Bring precision to change orders: Leverage detailed cash denomination utilization reports to streamline change order forecasting across all locations

- Optimize cash-in-transit (CIT) expenses: Eliminate excessive armored car pickups

- Lower insurance costs: Determine the right amount of cash to have available onsite, reducing the risk of theft and cost of insurance

- Ensure process adherence: Real-time user data enables you to respond quickly to security risks and process violations

- Consolidate banking relationships: Pinpoint which bank deposit services are unnecessary

Transform your business with tools that put you in command

The XpressControl solution helps you ensure that cash is moving efficiently through your retail operations. You can easily configure the solution to suit your organization's needs. Color-coded action cards alert users to low denominations, out of balance lanes or tills, offline devices, and more. Management controls let you give each user the right level of access and the ability to customize their view to focus on their priorities.

In addition to enabling you to coordinate your team's cash management activities, this flexible, intuitive command center empowers you to:

- Balance to the POS at the store level

- Execute queries to reconcile transactions and investigate out of balance conditions

- Monitor the performance of all connected cash recyclers

- Manage and receive alerts that require immediate action

Deploy a complete transaction automation solution

The XpressControl enterprise command center gives you complete control over all paper transactions when you deploy the XpressScan™ check automation solution to manage check deposits and the XpressCash application to streamline cash operations. Working in tandem with XpressControl, these solutions empower you to quickly make the right decisions and act proactively to save time and money.
